The Better Care Reconciliation Act would take health care away from many older Vermonters.

The Better Care Reconciliation Act of 2017 (BCRA) would make it harder for older adults in Vermont to afford the health care they need. Under the BCRA:

Older Vermonters may lose access to nursing home care, home health care, and other services that help them maintain their independence.

- Proposed cuts to Medicaid would slash federal funding by $772 billion, forcing states to cut important services for older adults, such as long-term services and supports.
- Medicaid is the primary payer for 64% of nursing facilities in Vermont.
- Approximately 59,784 Vermonters received long-term services and supports through Medicaid.
- About 11.1% of Vermont’s Medicaid beneficiaries are older adults; approximately 138,000 people ages 50-64 and 23,000 seniors in Vermont benefit from Medicaid.
- The proposed Medicaid cuts will deepen even more severely starting in 2025, just as “baby boomers” start turning 80. Cuts of 35% by 2036 will make it impossible for Vermont to meet the needs of its growing aging population. By 2025, the number of Vermonters over age 65 is expected to grow by 39.4%, and the number over 85, a population that relies on long-term services and supports, is expected to grow 22.2%.

Older adults may not be able to afford to pay their health insurance premiums.

- As of 2016, 9,000 Vermonters ages 50-64 received tax credits to purchase coverage through the Marketplace. Nationwide, one in four people (26%) enrolled in Marketplace plans are ages 55-64.
- For a 60-year-old living in Burlington, Vermont, with an income of $30,000/year, net insurance premiums for a Silver plan after tax credits could rise by 49% in 2020. Net premiums for a bronze plan could increase by 95%.
- By changing the 3:1 limit on age rating to 5:1 (or higher if state law permits), premiums for older adults would increase relative to younger adults. This “age tax” by itself would raise premiums in Vermont by $2,872 annually for a 60-year-old.
- The proposed bill also rolls back expanded Medicaid coverage, which currently provides affordable health care to 63,300 Vermonters, including many 50- to 64-year-olds.
- Vermont is one of twelve states that improved its Medicaid program to help people dually eligible afford their Medicare premiums and cost sharing, benefiting 28,000 Vermonters. The proposed Medicaid cuts put this help at risk.

There would be fewer resources to fund Medicare.

- BCRA includes a huge tax cut, totaling $58 billion, for wealthy individuals that will harm Medicare’s financing in the short- and long-term, putting people with Medicare at risk for benefit cuts.
- BCRA opens the door to premium support which would likely put the 23% of Vermonters ages 50-64 at risk for paying higher out-of-pocket costs once they enroll in Medicare.
- Older Vermonters can’t afford to pay more for health care. The median personal income among Vermonters ages 65 and older in 2015 was $24,800.
